$ multi-million drug development decision
...too important to leave to chance?

Simcyp provides expert consultancy services to support strategic decision making.

Simcyp’s team of specialists has world-recognised expertise in drug metabolism, pharmacokinetics and clinical pharmacology. Utilising pre-clinical ADME data and modelling and simulation, Simcyp helps explore potential clinical complexities such as the effects of disease, ethnicity, genetics, polypharmacy and age prior to committing to costly clinical investigation.

Simcyp can maximise the value of your pre-clinical data, which helps you prioritise and manage diminishing development resources ... stacking the odds for decision making in your favour!
